20-Mile-Long Convoy

American Force Invades Mindoro in Philippines

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Dec. 16.—(AP)—A 20-mile-long American warship convoy, moving 600 miles among enemy islands of the central Philippines while carrier planes knocked out upwards of 300 Japanese aircraft, landed mechanized troops Friday on Mindoro within 155 miles of F m a n i l a, headquarters disclosed today.

They swarmed ashore "with little loss."

This boldest amphibious stroke of the Pacific war, unlocking the sea approaches to embattled China by way of the South China Sea, was the archipelago from Leyte, was completed with ease but preparations were made for violent enemy reaction.

(Tokyo) Aided by confirmation that a violent air and sea battle already is raging off Mindoro.

Canadian Units Increase Hold In Bridgehead

ROME, Dec. 16 (AP)— Canadian forces of the British 8th Army have extended their bridgehead across the Naviglio canal to 3,000 yards, while British and Polish units renewed their attack southwest of the besieged road junction of Pavia. Allied headquarters announced today.

The British and Poles gained a foothold on a ridge running between two canals, the Naviglio and the Brenta.

Pavia, held by the Germans, is less than two miles west of Faenza and south of the Adige. Rome is about three miles farther southwest.

Todays' communiqué said the Canadian bridgehead was extended in the face of "very stiff resistance" while a number of enemy counter-attacks were repulsed.

TANK ATTACKS

(A delayed front dispatch from Canadian Press war correspondent William Ross today reported 14 armored counter-attacks were being fought against the Canadians at Pavia, but that by Thursday night the Canadians had increased its depth by 400 yards, and had not lost an inch of ground to the Germans.

(The said German major fire antenatal gun at intervals of 100 bombs in a given locality every five minutes, despite air support given the Canadians Thursday.)

Along the Allied 5th Army front, British troops repulsed numerous enemy attacks to recapture the village of Tresignana, scene of recent bitter fighting.

Plan to Reduce Army Defenses

OTTAWA, Dec. 16. (CP)— Ottawa Minister of National Defense announced a plan to reduce the number of men on postponement from military service and employed in industry and replacing them with men who are not subject to conscription.

Mr. MacNamara said industrial mobilization surveys carried out during the past year had shown that a year had reduced the number of men on postponement in industry to a very small number, in key industries, some of whom are of low medical category.

Those who are still on postponement and who are eligible for military service will be called up as soon as qualified demobilized men can be brought back over the civilian jobs, he said.

SGT. RAYMOND MADORE

Away Five Years

Loyal Edmonton Regt. Men Returning on Leave

Two Edmontonians who enlisted with The Loyal Edmonton Regiment on its formation here in 1939 have landed in Canada on their way home to spend Christmas there with their families.

Cpl. M. H. Ragan has advised his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ragan, 9755 86 Avenue, that he has landed in Canada. The telephone number of the Loyal Edmonton Regiment is 500-1111.

British paratroopers blocked the subway between the suburbs and downtown, and the armed forces of the EAM had been infiltrating at night.

Sgt. Pierre Madore was killed in action with the RCAF here. Lt. Col. W. J. St. John, commanding officer of the Loyal Edmonton Regiment, was severely wounded in the same raid.

A member of Edmonton hit in the present struggle is also dead. He is Sgt. Raymond Madore, who enlisted as an original of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment.

One of five brothers to don the uniform Sgt. Madore is the son of Mrs. J. C. Burgess, president of Alberta College. He enlisted Dec. 8, 1939, and left for overseas a week later. On Dec. 24, 1942, he transferred to the British Intelligence Service from The Loyal Edmonton Regiment.

Sgt. Madore was born in Edmonton and received Bulletins during his school years. CSM. Ragan was born in Stettler and attended St. John's High School. He transferred to the British Intelligence Service from The Loyal Edmonton Regiment.

He was killed in action in Italy and died in a hospital in Germany.

British newspapers today expressed serious misgivings over the landing of Prime Minister Winston Churchill on the continent.

It was believed that Churchill had been informed of the British government's decision to land him in Sicily.

On the one hand we are bound to Soviet Russia by common interest.

Elas Leader Broke Pledge To Evacuate Capital City

ATHENS, Dec. 16. (BUP)—Lt. Gen. Ronald Scobie announced today that Maj.-Gen. Stefanos Sarafis, commander of the ELAS forces, had agreed to evacuate the Athens area, but failed to carry out his promise.

Scobie issued a summary of Sarafis' plan, which he had fought against the British and Greeks government's proposal of the policies and developments in the civil war.

Scobie's evacuation of Athens was agreed to by Sarafis, but was not carried out by him, and General Sarafis troops remained in the capital area contrary to his given word, Scobie said.

More Authority For Secondary Nations Urged

NEW YORK. Dec. 16.—(UPI)—M. J. Colwell, CCF leader, said in an address prepared for delivery to the American Labor Conference on International Affairs, to-day, that the other peace-loving nations of her race should be given greater authority in the security council proposed at the recent Dunbarton Oaks conference.

"Under the present proposals Canada might be directed to sever trading relations with or supply armed forces to fight against some adversary, without having the opportunity of participating in the decision reached," he said.

He said that secondary powers should be better represented on the security council. The council must have immediate power to veto any proposal in its disposal and it would lack such decisive force unless nations were represented in accordance with their position on the question of the right to make war or peace.

SHOULD HAVE VOTE

It was important that the strong secondary powers, which could be called on for vital assistance against an aggressor, should be able to vote on the decisions reached.

It was also important that right or even economic relations on the direction of a council in which we are denied our vote," Colwell said.

If the first powers were to be given the last, itself, they nevertheless be prepared to have any disputes in which they are involved decided in the assembly of the nations and world opinion given a chance to judge.

The Dunbarton Oaks agreement, he said, did not include a word set up into conflicting spheres of influence.

It was important to shape the policies or control the personnel of the government of smaller states to fit the ideas and spirit of Dunbarton Oaks.

FIGHT WAR CAUSES

Wars between smaller states always bring about an end when the great powers will peace, but "no war has yet been fought of pulling the power of the people."

"For us and other reasons I plead that special emphasis be placed upon the proposed economic and political plan to attack the chronic causes of war. The danger is that council members will become an orphan stepchild of the world's cause."

Nations living prosperously and freely-organized in their political, economic and social life would surely breed the peace or spawn Hitler's of their own."

ENEMY OF PEACE

The arch-enemy of peace was the reactionary masses who were too ignorant to know that war was the way to look abroad, unable to distribute their wealth at home. Nations must be educated to the idea of self-sacrifice and world-wide economic and political unity.

Nations living prosperously and freely-organized in their political, economic and social life would surely breed the peace or spawn Hitler's of their own."

Will Tour Britain For Information

Making a tour of Canada to gather information for use in a series of lectures to be given in Britain, Lt.-Col. John H. Macmillan, an alderman of the city of Fredericton, arrived in Edmonton and is a guest at the Macmillan Inn.

One of the seven Canadians who have been selected to tour Britain under the auspices of the Canadian government for information. They will present a picture of the Canadian scene that is unique.

While in Edmonton he will visit the airport and military installations, and will consult with Mayor John W. Bryson, provincial government officials, members of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce and leading citizens.

They feel that Canada, like the United States and Britain, should have adopted overseas conscription in 1939. What it was done in Canada, they expect with qualified approval the news that there would be drafted in their ranks.

They also expect to have an opportunity to decide for themselves at first hand on the whole question.

front of the peace of Europe; on the other, they are bound to the United States by common ideals we are loath to relinquish.

"Most we then sacrifice the one for the other, and the loss of our Asian friendship, the denial of the Atlantic Charter and will that in turn mean American isolation. The dangers are grave, but Mr. Churchill did not hesitate to warn the House of the peril of a Third Great War."

ONE SURE REMEDY

"There is only one sure remedy and that . . . is an early meeting of the big three, to be followed by frequent and regular meetings until the world organization can be established."

The Times expressed hope that the meeting of the three major powers would not be much longer delayed.

The newspaper also expressed doubts about the proposed frontier changes between Poland and Germany and asked: "Would some of the extreme interpretations which might lend themselves to such a proposal be responsible with a Poland that was genuinely either 'strong' or 'independent'?"

The deadlock in Polish affairs, will, the Times said, compel international leaders to be careful of their obligations to Poland. In this, as in other issues, the Anglo-Soviet alliance is and must remain the foundation of British policy in Europe."

Veteran Airman, Sweetheart See What's Cooking

Flying Officer Jimmy Coburn is in a nice spot watching his mother mix icing for a cake while his sweetheart, Miss Dunaway, looks on. Jimmy is on the arm of his chair. The above scene is in the kitchen of the Coburn home, at 11845 94 street, shortly after FO. Coburn arrived home.

400 Give Blood

At Wetaskiwin

A total of 400 persons passed through the Red Cross mobile blood donors' clinic at Wetaskiwin, this week. Red Cross officials said Saturday, the clinic was from Tuesday to Friday, and the clinic and water cooler were on Eastern Lake. Gwynne Miller, Bant Lake, Weidman, Brightview Waterfall, Leduc, Falton and other centres.

In charge of arrangements was Dr. W. E. Stevenson, medical convener at Wetaskiwin. Feature of the clinic's visit was the arrangement whereby mothers of small children in the army camp were given their children at school where they were cared for until the arrival of their husbands. This attachment drove doctors back to their roots.

Of 234 donations received, one was from the same townsmen, five donated for the third time and of the remainder, the majority gave their first or second donation. Canadian fighter airmen, serving overseas, were among those who gave.

Another Edmontonian that FO. Coburn met in Canada recently was Wing Cmdr. P. H. Woodward DSO, VD, MC, who had been attached to the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Then came the epic of the modern, The Battle of Britain.

AMONG THE FEW

Coburn was among those few to whom Britain gave so much.

Next followed the long grim siege when Britain and her Allies gathered strength for the counter blow.

Young Coburn served through those years in North Africa and then to gallant Malta as the tide of liberation started to roll along the south coast of Sicily and Italy.

Officials announced activities would be suspended for the Christmas period. The airmen camp at Wetaskiwin, Jan. 6 and 7.

One Way Or The Other

The Supreme Court of Canada is to decide whether loans made under the National Housing Act are to be under federal or provincial jurisdiction. The point arises because loan companies have taken the stand that they will make housing loans if these are to be under federal control, but if no provincial legislation is to apply to them.

A court decision either way will therefore be important. If the decision is that the provincial powers cannot interfere with the loan companies, the companies will have to assume responsibility. If the decision is the other way, other means of financing large scale house-construction will have to be found.

Either verdict would improve the situation, and the ground cannot be gained by any too strong a stand. The loan plan is being tested in the provinces as in others. At present it is stalled by the refusal of the loan companies to participate. This stalemate cannot be allowed to drag along.

The Battle Against T.B.

In nearly every part of Canada, from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific, mass surveys for the detection of tuberculosis are proving of great value. It may be expected that Edmonton's present Dr. W. H. L. Edmonson will have examined each and every one of the cases of active disease for each thousand examined. Most of these cases will be in early stages, giving the victims a 90 per cent chance of recovery.

Christians will be a quiet town. The council has decreed that people on the side-walks must keep to the right. Letters to the editor have demanded that rule righting, while the "right side" happens to be the inside of the walk, he would have to bulldoze his way through swarms coming out of the stores and throngs trying to get in.

formance. The Allies did right to choose De Gaulle, place him in power, and give him the backing necessary to bring order out of confusion.

With the same situation exists in all the countries long under Nazi control. Some authority has to be nominated to take over from the military administration, and in all of them whatever authority is chosen will require Allied support—moral or military—to survive and to make headway toward reconstruction of the national life.

But it will be better if the three major powers can arrange that some differentiation can be made on their joint responsibility and with the prestige of their joint approval. That would be accepted by the liberated peoples more willingly than intervention by one of the "big three". Some arrangement to this end is likely to be preferred when the conference gets under way.

The distracted, bankrupt, faction-ridden countries need a keeper. They are more likely to accept direction and discipline if this is provided by the three great powers acting together.

A New York lawyer dug up $235,000 in a Vancouver back-yard. The neighbors may hope that the fog continues, so they won't be noticed when they go out to do a little holiday excavating where the potato grew last summer.

Romanian cabinet is to approve a law abolishing racial discrimination, giving Jews equal rights with other citizens. Romania is one of the countries which has not been left to set up whatever order of things would be agreeable to the immediately dominant faction. Russia took on the job of seeing that national policies there are not drawn in Nazi lines.

General MacArthur reports that Japanese forces have suffered $2,000 casualties on the island of Leyte. Thirty-five enemy soldiers have been killed and each American in Australia is upon its own skin in the east. Japan has always depended for final victory, and in the nature of things must depend. That its sea forces are faring better than its land forces wherever it is is plain, and adding something to the feeling that the military expansion policy is not working out according to plans and promises.

Another Busy Year

The federal-provincial conference on agriculture has outlined a program which ensures another busy and profitable and exceedingly useful year for the Canadian farmer.

The farmer is asked to supply all the milk he can, and to breed cattle to fatten them, and to keep his cattle to help raise egg production to 422,000,000 dozen, to grow more oats, more barley, more flax, sunflowers, rape seed and soy beans, tobacco, corn and beans. The only important item left out is the side of the account in which he cut down wheat production by eight per cent—and use the land for other crops and not less laborious purposes.

With the possible exception of wheat the farmer thus has official assurance that he faces an opportunity to market all he can produce, under price conditions not likely to be less to his advantage, even should the fighting end in England.

The farmer has need of these things, that are necessary to the successful carrying on of our national war effort, and not less to help ease the distress of liberated western cities with a view to securing their action in dealing with the unemployment situation.

The city this year has a deficit on general revenue of $10,000, the first since 1913.

1924: 20 Years Ago

The mercury at Edmonton crawled down to 44 below zero last night. The first completely frozen the interior of the city's stores building on 96 street. The damage is estimated at $75,000. A large amount of electrical equipment is lost.

Major Blatchford is negotiating with the mayors of western cities with a view to securing their action in dealing with the unemployment situation.

The city this year has a deficit on general revenue of $10,000, the first since 1913.

Washington—the Senate inquiry committee learned that the war department approved sale of surplus aircraft to foreign governments in violation of value as to the armament of such states was thereby secured.

Parties—the Chamber was asked to vote $50,000 as an "emergency" fund for arming Frenchmen.

A. K. Watson has been engaged to make a complete survey of all civil departments, with a view to reducing expenses.

Joint Action Needed

Whenever a question they meet, it is obvious that one of the masters, Marshal Stalin, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill will have to discuss and settle is that of interference by the powers they represent in the restoration of civil government in the occupied countries.

There is still late to discuss whether that is to be such interference. That was decided when these powers installed General de Gaulle as head of a provisional government of France. The General had no mandate from the Free French Government or from a duly constituted French parliament to assume this function. But France had to have a government without delay, and to hold a general election in the circumstances could be only a farcical performance.

It is to be done, and the best way to do it is to have the Free French Government, the Free French Army and the Free French Navy work together.

McNaughton's Evidence in House Was Far From Clever

By GRANT DEXTER

OTTAWA—When Gen. McNaughton appeared before the House of Commons on Nov. 10, the evidence he adduced in support of his contention had just been announced. It had, in fact, been announced two days earlier. It was, perhaps, natural that he should try at the outset of his evidence to establish his position. His son, Gen. McNaughton, his predecessor in office, who had been retired for two years, had been recalled to the service. It was, perhaps, natural that he should try at the outset of his evidence to establish his position.

Gen. McNaughton was sitting a few feet away.

"I differed," said Gen. McNaughton, "in that my method of getting reinforcements needed in October last he took his stand on the basis that he was out of the position of maintaining our forces overseas by voluntary enlistment. At that time I took the stand that we had to maintain the system which we had used throughout this war and long before, namely, that the results we sought and of providing them in time, provided always that it was given the full public support which was required to make it safe."

"It was dangerous to hazard conscription until the voluntary system was exhausted. The members of the House were quite right."

It was absolutely essential, said the General, that the members of the House be given the maximum reinforcement.

As a result of his evidence, Gen. McNaughton argued that he had never been asked to consider conscription from his mind.

It was observed that Gen. McNaughton had introduced a number of new points.

The proviso that his earlier "evidence" had been superseded by his present was a surprise. Also his apparent belief that public opinion had been responsible for his recall to the service.

At this first meeting with the House, Gen. McNaughton seemed to have been well received. He kept on saying such things as "We have to maintain the voluntary system to the limit."

While there was a certain respect for him, there was also a desire to find out what he had to say.

As a result, Gen. McNaughton specifically put a question on the subject.

"What was it that caused you to resign?" asked the district commander.

"As a result of the events."

Major and Minor Notes

By John Oliver

NOw that the Empire theatre has been restored to its proper function as a place of entertainment, and with the prospect of progressive improvements in conditions in regard to the show business, it will be revived and theatre-goers soon may see some notable productions.

What bookings are in the preliminary stage is not known, but in the office of Tom Tasker, manager of the Empire, that some musical attractions may play at the theatre is not too distant. JOHN OLIVER

The war of course brought to a halt the touring of the Canadian opera companies, but only recently has there been any progress made in reviving touring by train. In view of the fact that there were short points of stop, there has been some transportation by bus and automobile trailer.

If the San Carlo company does return, it is likely that many of the same singers who have appeared on previous occasions, Mario Valente, Harold Kremer, Renata Tebaldi and others will be present. Carlo Peroni the popular conductor of the last visit will not return; he died in New York last spring. The San Carols always have been well received and should they come back a warm welcome will be waiting.

It is rumored, also at Mr. Tasker's newly appointed office that a musical, playing Victoria Herbert's "Naughty Marietta" will be seen at the Empire Jan. 25-26. This operetta has been staged by a professional company, although it was produced by the Edmonton Civic Opera Society three years ago. It has been seen in several on city screens. Other musical shows which are said to be heading for the Empire are "My Way," "Oklahoma," "Student Prince" and for those who like straight comedy, "The Girl in the Next Room," which has won considerable success on Broadway. So there is a preview of what may be expected. Traveling musicals other than those mentioned above may be seen circumstances stemming from the war may cause cancellation of part or all of them.

Suggestion that the Celebrities Series of Concerts sponsored by the Canadian National Council intended to seven instead of six as at present, was made by Fred M. Hayes, artistic director, in addressing the audience at the Empire theatre during the concert of Alexander Tcherny, Russian pianist.

Mr. Gee said he had not discussed this matter with the music club but would do so later. At present the Celebrities Series consists of six concerts, the first of which was held Dec. 17 in concert in Winnipeg. Mr. Gee said that last season he had no idea that this city was growing. It should not be too far behind Winnipeg.

He appealed for consideration of new artists, with established reputations in Europe who were only recently here. He said that the city was growing and it should not be too far behind Winnipeg.

The Robertson United Church junior choir, on Sunday, Dec. 31 in connection with the regular church services, will sing the Christmas carols.

Containing much tuneful music, it includes solo, duets, choruses, and with harpsichord, organ and piano accompaniment. C. A. Kavanagh, organist and choirmaster will be the musical director, and Mrs. Kavanagh will be the accompanist. Soloists will include Iris Wolfe, Jean Fraser, Margaret Emond, Doreen Keaveny and Dorothy McCallum. Solo performers have spent much time preparing the work and those who have heard rehearsals say that it will be well worth hearing.

The Empire Civic Forum held its regular meeting last Sunday at the Public Library. Two-piano compositions were played and discussed. Captain Thorne contributed a group of songs and Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner at the piano. The program was: Minuet Allantes, Suite Burleigh, Venetian Love Song, Noveau, and Scarlatti's Miland, plus a solo by Mrs. Kavanagh and Don Doney: Sweet Sentimental, Tehai-kovsky: Tango, Zimbalist: Donkey Head, Dorothy Briggs: Habanera de Cuba, and a solo by Stacey Etude, Rubenstein, played by Marjorie Willis and Sarah Sprague. Misses G. and J. D. Walcott, Verdi: Gastone from "Manno," Massenet and They Call Me Mimì, from "La Bohème," Puccini.

Although the Empire Civic Forum held its regular meeting time in respect to its own work, it has been busy with its less spectacular but nevertheless vital role of providing entertainment for the HMCS Stettler, a fighting frigate of the Canadian Navy. On a few occasions, the Forum members of the society sat up late packing handsome and bulging Christmas boxes for all hands aboard ship. The boxes contained 100 packages representing an average outlay of $5 were dispatched to the ship.

This nearly $500 representing a goodly portion of the net proceeds of the recent production of "The New Moon" has been sent to the ship. Information from the officer commanding the ship is that the party has been well received and ready for distribution on Christmas. They went forward attractively wrapped in their boxes. There was a card with the name of the officer or rating for which it was destined. Those who saw the boxes have no worries to expect the Stettler's crew having a good time on the festive day. The command in charge of the ship is Vice-Admiral R. H. Ross, Wainwright and Marie Addison, while several others assisted.

For the Forum's spring meeting there are no changes. No decision has been made as to the opening to be produced. It has been agreed however, that the production will not take place until sometime in April, a couple of weeks later than usual. Thus, Mrs. James B. (Cuthbert) Tasker, president of the forum, will not call the first rehearsal until about the middle of January. Several persons have been receiving attention with "Rehearsal" and a slight lead over others in favor, but the eventual call always being given to the one person best able to obtain costumes, scenery and the singers. *

A Christmas festival will be held Monday evening, Dec. 18, at 8 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, for children under 12 years of age. Bible Clubs, their friends, and their parents. This work of weekly Bible instruction in homes classes has been carried on for the last seven months in various communities in the city.

The work was initiated and is under the general direction of the Rev. Dr. Willard C. Peirce. Similar work is finding widespread acceptance throughout Canada and the United States.

"Our work," says Dr. Peirce, "is a definite prevention of crime, a definite promotion of health, and a truly grave over our land. We have started this work in cities across the continent, and the results and benefits in thousands of children who are thus brought under the influence of the Gospel and Bible instruction."

IS UNDENOMINATIONAL

The work is undenominational in teaching, and represents several hundred groups at present, most of whom are connected with various churches, some with no church affiliation.

The program of the festival will open with an address of welcome by Premier Ernest Manning. Prayer will be offered, and a short service conducted by Rev. J. MacBeth Miller, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

A children's pageant will be presented by children of the clubs with the Rev. T. E. Crane, director of the Calvary Community Sunday school, in charge. The pageant will be presented by the choir, male quartette and soloists of the Pentecostal Tabernacle.

The method of teaching in the Bible clubs will be seen in a demonstration class, taught by Miss Ruth Scott, teacher of the Bible Club work.

The story of "The Other Wise Men" will be told by Dr. Peirce with stereoscopic illustration. A

Hospital Hopes To Speed Plans For Extensions

The special committee on extensions to the Royal Alexandra Hospital was given authority to negotiate with city commissioners using their report as a basis of conversation, by members of the hospital board when they held their annual meeting of the year Friday night.

At the November meeting the special committee presented a report proposing a five-year plan of alterations, extensions and renovations, costing approximately $750,000.

A copy of the report was forwarded to city council and members of the hospital board were asked to discuss the proposed plans with city commissioners and report back to the board.

Members felt that discussion with city commissioners would speed up action on the plan and make it possible to have architect's drawings and more accurate estimates.

SIX-POINT PLAN

The six-point plan included the building of a new wing, a new infirmary, a new dispensary, a new dispensary service, the contemplated enlarged hospital; erection of a new east wing; new rooms to the main entrance; a new wing for the "Old Nurses' Home"; a 50-bed chronic treatment hospital for aged and crippled patients; and other improvements to the present edifice.

Members of the committee are Dr. A. F. Anderson, Dr. W. A. Wilkinson and Vernon Pearson.

Dr. Anderson said he felt that the new wing will be additional beds but for enlargement and improvement of various departments, the hospital is to be continued and the hospital is to be given satisfactory service."

The financial report submitted at the meeting showed a deficit of $1,861 for November operations, bringing the total deficit for the 11 months to $10,424. This figure does not include an allocation of an estimated $88,000 for unaccountable accounts for the year.

SURFERS WOUND

One student Metalman was riding a motorcycle through the blacked-out streets of Petworth in Southern England. It was early morning when he hit a curb. A sonic whistled down and everything went sick for Metalman.

When he came to he was hospital with a shattered arm and other hurts.

At a lengthy hospitalization in England and Canada he was discharged.

Thomas, who formerly taught art at Holden, Taftord, Farndale and Champion, being principal at Holden, enlisted in the RCAF in 1941 and was overseas for 33 months.

A radio mechanic he went on to the RCAF and was promoted to sergeant. He had many stories to relate from his days in the service.

He explained that when he first came to the U.S. Army there were no setups such as veterans now have in selective service.

"I try to get to know the true story of every man who comes to me. I am aware of the needs of a man coming out of the service."

Now 22 years old, Londoner was thrown into the war when he joined the Royal Canadian Navy in 1940.

Because of his long experience at teaching school he was transferred to the educational department of the Royal Canadian Navy one of its first training schools.

MANY INTERVIEWS

For 18 months he was at the RCAF's recruitment office in England and interviewed 6000 men.

Thomas said he was bringing his own veterans with all those he had helped to training schools.

Most fellows come from overseas, some from Europe, some from Asia.

Those all do not want change. They just want a decent chance to live.

He said there were three main types of discharged personnel.

The first type is the man who through age or illness is unable to work at his former trade; he must be trained again for some

By PHIL AULT in The Edmonton Bulletin

—LONG LIVE THE THIRD REICH! Allied leaders mapping the post-war control of defeated Germany were undercut to day to have rejected flatly the so-called "Morgenthau plan," which would have wiped out the Nazi industry and spurned all blood-thirsty proposals for a great purge of the German people.

Reliable sources said post-war Germany would be permitted to retain her non-war industries under strict Allied control to keep the country from a "relatively small" occupation army.

But the same policy also calls for the complete demolition of Germany's economic power to make way for reconstruction.

According to the "Morgenthau plan," calling for destruction of industry and conversion of the Reich into an agricultural nation, is unique in its aggressiveness. Calling the victorious nations into the unwanted task of trying to keep 20-million Germans from starving to death.

PURGE DISCARDED

Likewise, all proposals for purging the German population have been discarded, and there is no relaxation in demands for the full punishment of war criminals, it was said.

The plan forwarded by US secretary of state Henry Morgenthau Jr. was said to have been discarded by the four Allied economists estimate that Germany, as purely an agricultural nation, could support a population of 100 million whereas her estimated post-war population will be at least 60,000,000.

It was believed that any problem of starvation, even in conquered Germany, soon would create a growing freedom of movement among the people in the victorious Allied countries.

Germany still surrounded the exact size of the Allied occupation army, but reliable sources believed it would not be a "mammoth effort."

WANT TROOPS HOME

The man planning the Allied control policy was said to recognize that a public clamor to "bring our boys back home" will begin almost immediately after armistice day.

Russia, it was understood, also wants an immediate allied occupation army comparable with the proper enforcement of economic control.

Initial proposals for the control of German oil, chemical and steel industries were reported under consideration by the European advisory commission.

The European advisory commission has the ultimate responsibility for the production and distribution of coal and general directives. Russia, Britain and the United States presently are the only countries placing their military forces in Germany, and for the joint control of the Berlin area.

While ample demands exist for the early return of our boys, it comes to me I am aware of the needs of a man coming out of the service," he said.

LOST GOGO

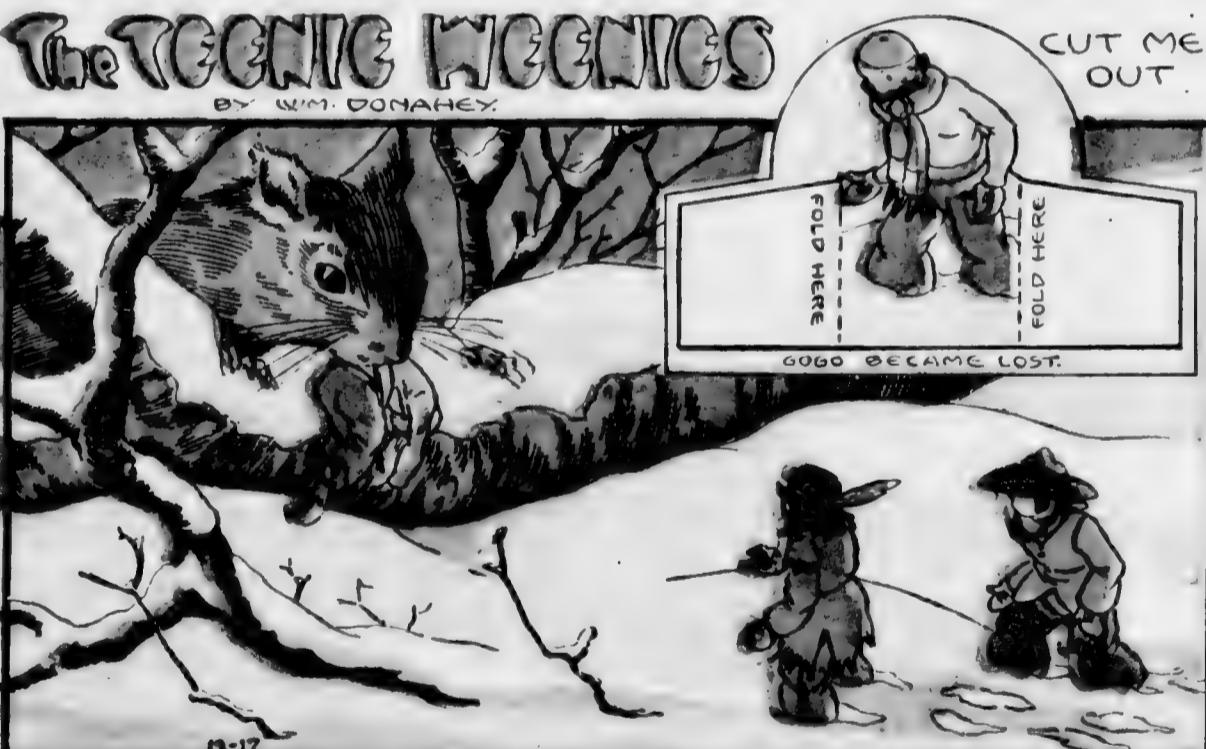

THE Teenie Weenies decided to hold their Christmas party in the old felt hat which the little people used for a town hall. The Lady of Fashion usually decorated the hall for the Christmas party with bits of cedar and tiny pine boughs. Sometimes the men were able to find a few mountain ash berries to make decorations for the Teenie Weenie Christmas tree.

One morning several of the men went off to the big wood in search of decorations. It had snowed during the night and the weather was quite cold. They put on heavy Teenie Weenie mittens and covered their tiny ears with ear muffs made out of the finest and warmest caterpillar fur. Being small and light the little men could walk over the deep snow very easily. After a long search they found some pine and cedar twigs which would make pretty decorations. They had not been able to find any mountain ash berries, but Gogo said that he knew where some might be found and he set off to look for them while the rest of the men carried their decorations home.

When lunchtime came and Gogo had not returned the General began to worry, and when the little chap had not showed up by 4 o'clock, the General asked the Indian and the Cowboy to go in search of him. The two Teenie Weenies had set off towards the big woods when Nick the red squirrel suddenly came along with Gogo in his mouth. The Indian and the Cowboy could see that something was wrong with Gogo, for the little fellow hung as limp as a washcloth in Nick's mouth. The Cowboy motioned for

The TEENIE WEEENIES

BY W.M. DONAHEY.

Nick to hurry with Gogo to the shoe house while the two Teenie Weenies followed as fast as they could.

If Nick hadn't happened to run across Gogo that little chap surely would have frozen. His tiny feet were badly frostbitten, but the Doctor thawed them out in half an acorn shell of ice water and then Gogo was put to bed. The Cook put on a grain of dried corn and made some very strong soup which seemed to do Gogo a lot of good, for he ate nearly three large cherry seed bowls of it.

After Gogo had eaten his soup he told the Teenie Weenies that he lost his way and wandered around until he felt very sleepy. He settled in the soft snow for just a little nap and then he didn't remember anything after that until he was back home in the Teenie Weenie shoe house.

"It's mighty lucky that Nick found you," the Doctor told Gogo. "If you had laid out in the cold much longer you'd have been nothing but a Teenie Weenie lump of ice."
